"How to make participatory analysis of qualitative data more accessible: Introducing Participatory Theme Elicitation"

Ms Jade Yap<sup>3</sup> & Dr Trisha Forbes<sup>4</sup>

- 1-School of Social Sciences, Education & Social Work, Centre for Evidence & Social Innovation, Queens University Belfast,
- 2-School of Applied Social & Policy Sciences, Ulster University
- 3-Mental Health Foundation, London,
- 4-School of Nursing and Midwifery, Queens University Belfast.

Participatory Theme Elicitation is a new approach to increasing user-involvement in qualitative data analysis. It has been tested in a number of different settings including schools, mental health support services and workplace environments.

Short case studies will be presented on each area and include how the method has developed over time.
